What is a Climate Action Advisor?

Climate Action Advisors are independent experts, who offer free, tailored support for schools, colleges, and nurseries across England. We can suggest practical, affordable actions for schools of any size, wherever they are on their sustainability journey to take actions such as greening buildings, transport, menus and more. This service is part of the Let's Go Zero campaign.

What support is offered?

Our experienced experts can help your school to:

- Seize the quick wins that reduce energy use and wider carbon impact.
- Upgrade existing school buildings – advisors will help you prioritise and explore different options, and understand routes to funding (private and government).
- Boost strategic sustainability across multi-academy trusts.
- Get further support from local and national organisations.
- Connect with other local schools, to share ideas on sustainability.
- Build an effective climate action plan.

How do we offer support?

- 1:1 phone and online expertise.
- Site visits to schools – working hand in hand with site staff.
- Informing and inspiring schools at network meetings and regional events.
- Bringing schools together with the latest information at regular webinars and group calls.

When will we be in your area?

We are planning a phased roll out of the advisor service across England

1. East and West Midlands – currently in place
2. South East, South West and London – April 2024
3. Yorkshire & Humberside, Anglia, North West, and North East – August 2024
